Lyke Magazine To Hit Newsstands Tomorrow

Lyke magazine goes on sale at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, and according to Ed Roper, member of the editorial staff, "it'll be a sell-out!"

The magazine will contain short articles and stories, in conformance with an informal poll taken by last quarter's staff to determine what articles had the highest readership.

Among this issue's features will be an article discussing the rise and decline of Spartan school spirit by Rich Jordan, an essay by co-editor Russell Howard telling how to get along in the army, and a short discourse on grades and grading by Roper.

According to co-editors Ann Tremaine and Howard, this quarter's Lyke will contain more pictures of women than ever before in the magazine's history. Dick Zimmerman and Bill Gilmore, of the photo staff, took the fashion shots and the pictures of campus activities and personalities.

Cartoons by Ed Conkle and Bob Miller, art editor, will balance the editorial material.

Last quarter's Lyke sold out by 10:30 a.m., so students are urged to buy their magazines early. The price is 25 cents, and stands are to be conveniently located throughout the campus.

Use of High School To Be Discontinued

Use of "condemned" San Jose high school buildings will be discontinued soon for the 30 SJS classes now holding sessions there, President T. W. MacQuarrie said yesterday.

The six rooms now being utilized will be "out-of-bounds" as soon as the local school district officially turns the structures over to the college, according to Dr. MacQuarrie. The president said this would take place about the end of April.

Decision to abandon the high school buildings was made after issuance of a State Fire Marshal report last week. This report expressed disapproval of "any temporary use of the old San Jose high school buildings in their present condition."

Dr. MacQuarrie said classes concerned probably will have to be shuffled around in time and location for the spring quarter. He explained that any available classrooms will be used, there being no specifically designated function for rooms. He also said future use of the old Music building will be decided sometime during the next school year.

Draft Queries Flood Dean of Men's Office

By LELAND JOACHIM

"My deferment expires this June. Is there anything I can do to secure further deferment?"

This is typical of questions about the draft which Dean of Men Stanley Benz and his secretary, Miss Bernice Van Gundy, receive in great numbers. Let us look into a day in the dean's office.

Miss Van Gundy answers the first question, about whether one may secure a second deferment, by telling the anxious student, "Sometime between now and the end of the academic year, request the Registrar's office to send a letter to your local board stating you are in college and expect to return for the fall quarter. Also write a letter yourself asking for continued deferment."

Throughout the day students wander in and out. These are the questions they ask most often:

Q. I have a deferment now. Will I be able to get another?

A. You are entitled to one statutory deferment, based on your occupation as a full-time college student. Whether you will be granted a second or third deferment is entirely up to your local draft board.

Q. I have received my first classification notice. Shall I request deferment now?

A. Wait until you have taken your physical before requesting deferment. Then go to the Registrar's office and request that a letter be sent. Also, be sure to write a letter requesting deferment.

Q. Should I take the Selective Service College Qualification test the second time?

A. If you have taken the qualification test once, do not take it again.

Council Discusses Election on Prom

Today's election in the Student Union, brought about by clashing views on the proposed $1500-$2200 Junior Prom budget, received comment yesterday by the junior class executive council.

Taking an objective view of the situation, the members listed points, both pro and con, affecting the budgetary discussion. "We do not wish to force any ideas upon the class," President Ed Jacobowsky explained.

A paper bearing differing opinions was produced, stating in the favorable sense: "Because of the competition of the social calendar of spring quarter, this council feels it necessary to offer an outstanding dance, thereby insuring support of the student body. Also, it is traditional for the Prom to be one of the major dances of the school year."

On the dissenting side, these comments were advanced: "There is a financial risk in the proposed budget put forth by this council. Should the dance fail financially, any debts incurred would have to be paid before graduation in 1953. Also, such debts might have to be met out of our Senior Week funds of next year."

Polls will remain open from 8 to 4 o'clock today, Jacobowsky informed. He urges all juniors to vote, thus giving an adequate consensus of class expression.

Sixteen Groups Vie In Song Contest

Sixteen women's living organizations will compete tomorrow night in the third annual March Melodies song contest, to be held at 8 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Trophies will be awarded to the three top winning organizations. Judging will be based on interpretation, which includes style, dynamics contrast, balance, blend, intonation, and articulation; presentation, including organization and originality; and general effect and appearance.

Judges will be Dr. Irene Palmer, Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, Rocci Pisano, Thomas Egan and A. M. Ferguson.

Organizations entered in the song fest are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Omicron Pi, Alpha Phi Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Sigma Kappa, Delta Zeta, Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, Belle Manor, "Quartet Quarters," the YWCA, Grace Hall, Mary George Co-op, and Kappa Phi.

Volunteer Fills Senior Post

Marlyn Ahlenius volunteered to take over the job of class treasurer at the senior council meeting yesterday. The position of secretary still remains vacant.

Donald P. Sevens and Dr. Vernon Ouellette, class advisers, will preside over the last meeting of senior orientation this morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Scheduled for Apr. 8, the orientation class will devote an hour to presentations by recruiters for the WAF, WAVE, WAC, and, possibly, the Women's Marine corps, Dr. Ouellette related.

The State Department of Education currently is demanding that senior orientation programs include some sort of discussion of alcoholic and narcotic problems, Mrs. Sevens said. In compliance with this demand, senior orientation next quarter will include one program dealing with those problems.

Members of the council expressed the idea that a forceful presentation of the situation by a representative of the federal narcotics bureau would be interesting.

'Nights of Wrath' Ends Tomorrow

Tickets remain on sale for tonight and tomorrow night's presentation of the Speech and Drama department's final offering of the quarter, "Nights of Wrath," according to Mrs. Virginia Vogel, department secretary.

They may be purchased in the Speech office, Room 57, or at the door, she added. Price of tickets is 60 cents with ASB cards, 90 cents without.

Concluding its five-day run in the Little Theater tomorrow night, the drama of France during the Nazi occupation is directed by Dr. James H. Clancy, professor of speech.

Cast includes Richard Rizzo, Judith Levy, Gerald Charlebois, Warren Blomseth, Ruth Dougherty, William Resch, Robert Dietle and Joseph Lo Bue.

Journalists Meet

United Nations, N.Y. (UP) — Newspaper executives and information experts from 12 countries met here yesterday to work on the draft of an international code of ethics for journalists in the face of warnings from United States quarters that such a code would restrict rather than encourage freedom of the press.

5000 Berkeley Students Protest Advisory Board for Newspaper

About 5000 University of California students have signed petitions in the past week protesting the establishment of an advisory board for the Daily Californian, according to a story in that publication.

Sponsors of the petitions say the 5000 figure is "rough and conservative," since most petitioners have yet to report the number of names they have gathered.

The advisory board was created as the aftermath of "pro-communist" literature contributed to the Daily Californian last December. Activity protesting the action began soon afterwards.

Dick Roe, president of the University YMCA, said in support of the petitions, "Stiles hall (the YMCA headquarters) has always been interested in issues concerning freedom. We consider this issue to be in that area."

er this issue to be in that area."

The Daily Californian reported these names, among others, as signers of the petitions: John Olszewski, varsity football; Paul Hance, president of Young Republicans; Ralph Estling, editor of California Pelican; Fred Shanks, president of Theta Delta Chi fraternity, and Felisa Capillo, vice president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism sorority.

Orchestra Will Present Winter Concert Tonight

By KEITH GARDNER

With soloist Rachael Perez, the college Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Lyle Downey, will present its quarterly concert tonight in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Perez, for the past four years a piano student of Thomas Ryan, instructor in music, will be featured in a performance of Cesar Franck's "Symphonic Variations for Piano and Orchestra," second scheduled work on the evening's program.

Opening the program, Dr. Downey will conduct the orchestra in a performance of Anton Bruckner's "Symphony No. 7 in E Major."

Long a proponent of Bruckner's works, Dr. Downey will be presented at the concert with the award of the Bruckner Society of America in recognition of his efforts at furthering the appreciation of Bruckner's music in the United States. The award will be presented on behalf of the society by Dr. Hugh W. Gillis, head of the Fine Arts division.

A close friend of the better-known Richard Wagner, Bruckner struggled many years for recognition of his work, finally achieving it with the "Symphony, No. 7."

The symphony is divided into an allegro moderato, a solemn and slow adagio, a very fast scherzo, and concludes with an evenly-paced finale.

Miss Perez, featured in the Franck work, is a native of New York City, where she began her study of the piano seven years ago.

A graduate of San Jose high school, she is currently a junior at the college.

Written in the latter part of his life, before his death in 1890, the Franck piece is considered one of the major works in the concert pianist's repertoire.

Concluding the program will be a performance of the ever-popular symphonic poem "Les Preludes," by Franz Liszt. Of Liszt's 12 symphonic tone poems, "Les Preludes," his third, is considered the best.

Gibson Walters, associate professor of music and assistant conductor of the orchestra, will be concertmaster for the performance.

The symphony is made up of nine faculty members and 60 students.

Junior classmen who march to the Student Union polls today to decide the fate of their proposed $2200 Junior Prom budget are perhaps confronted with a more far-reaching situation than is evident.

In short, a favorable vote will undoubtedly insure class members of a fine affair, complete with a big-name band and the social satisfaction resulting from it. An assenting opinion will commit all juniors to the whole-hearted support of the prom, let it prove a financial Dunkirk and seriously spike their Senior Week activities of next year.

Should the budget be turned down, there are probably few on campus who would then label the class "ultra-conservative." And, even were these "few" many, their effect might be minute compared with that which the juniors could wield upon themselves by self-application of the "nothing ventured, nothing gained" argument.

Thus, the problem is squarely in the hands of the class. There are but two possible decisions from which to choose: to act wisely or imperfectly.

Sin Pays Off!

It seems institutions of higher learning are missing a bet by not offering classes in the ways of sin. As evidenced in the Whittaker Chambers memoirs, now running in the Saturday Evening Post, the field is lucrative. Mr. Chambers, a former Communist, now is receiving about $75,000 for his errors, and if he is selling his copy by the yard, probably will find himself among the "feetly capitalists" which he once conspired to overthrow. We believe the wages of his sins should be a healthy verbal kick... not a fat sock.

Thrust and Parry

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Tom Evans, representative-at-large on the Student Council, is riding for a fall in its plans to stage a "big time" Junior Prom this spring. The council's present plans call for an expenditure of $2200, in return for which they hope to engage a big-name band to play at the Bay Meadows Turf club.

The fly in the ointment is that the council has less than $200 in its treasury at the present time—and little chance of making up the difference through bid sales. To break even on the Prom, it would have to sell a $3 bid to approximately 25 per cent of the male students on campus. Doing this would be no mean accomplishment, since no one I've run into around here yet can recall a similar sales percentage on previous Proms.

The powers-that-be in the junior class have decided to call a special election (to be held today) to determine whether the rest of the class will back them up (financially) if the Prom goes in the hole. I'm going to vote No!

If this vote is passed by a two-thirds majority, and if the prom fails financially, every student who is graduated with the class of '53 will be compelled to pay for a part of the flop, through his senior fee. Why should a student who had nothing to do with the over-enthusiasm of a few be forced to pay the bill if their pet project falls through the floor?

Here's hoping the prom plans get back on a sane level before it's too late to pick up the pieces.

Jim Porter, ASB 1145.

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The junior class council has been working for three months on plans for a Prom which would be a major attraction, compared to the low-budget dances this school has been getting.

I feel that only by having something different, such as a big-name band, can the dance be the financial and social success that is befitting a Junior Prom.

Today the class council is asking the junior class to give its opinion. The main issue appears to center on the question of finances.

The opposition points to the numerous financial failures of dances at Staté. We point to the type of dance that has been failure. A big-name band at the Bay Meadows Turf club would be the first such venture since the financially and socially successful Senior Ball with Freddy Martin and his orchestra.

Although the financial responsibility belongs to the junior class, the success of the dance also depends upon the entire student body to which the Prom is open.

Ken Scannell, ASB 2100.

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—After Wheeler Mayes complained to police that someone had stolen a shotgun from his automobile he got fast action. They not only found the weapon but arrested Mayes on a charge of carrying it illegally.

Council Inner-Views...

Tom Evans, representative-at-large on the Student Council, believes one of the basic needs of the college is a program to better inform the students as to the accomplishments of the student government.

"It is necessary to conduct extensive research," Tom said, "to see that the activities of the student government are in keeping with the wishes of the student body."

A graduate of Palo Alto high school, Tom said that the students have to be oriented as to what activities are available to them and how they may become active in these activities.

Now in his junior year at the college, the 20-year-old Social Science major has been one of the most active participants in student government. He has been past president of the Spartan Shields, chairman of the constitution committee, chairman of the Blood drive, and a representative on the freshman, sophomore, and junior class councils.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 36...THE OTTER

A usually mild-mannered and easy-going lad, he really made the fur fly when he realized the trickiness of most of the so-called cigarette mildness tests! He knew there was one honest test of cigarette mildness. Millions of smokers everywhere know, too — there's one true test!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Glovemen Invited To Idaho Tourney

By LLOYD BROWN

Eight members of Coach Dee Portal's boxing team will try their ring skills in the Northwest again this week, having been invited to the Intermountain tournament which will be held at Pocatello, Ida., on Friday and Saturday.

The powerful Raider squad lost its first dual match since the 1949 season when it dropped a 5½-2½ decision to strong Gonzaga at Spokane two weeks ago. In their other Northwest encounter, Portal's punchers scored a 6-2 win over Washington State's Cougars. The Gonzaga meet was the last in which the Spartans participated.

Last year was the first time that any member of the SJS team was entered in the Intermountain tourney. Two boxers were sent to Pocatello from Washington Square. Don Camp, then unheard of because of the fistic fame of Mac Martinez, 1950 NCAA champion, who was also a featherweight, won the 1950 tourney featherweight bout handily. Camp will lead the Spartans into this year's bouts as team captain.

SJS Matmen To Participate In PCI Meet

After placing fourth in the Far Western AAU wrestling championships Saturday at the Oakland YMCA, Coach Ted Mumby and his Spartan wrestlers are readying themselves for Friday and Saturday's PCI meet at Cal Poly.

Mumby, who is president of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Wrestling association, announced yesterday that there would be teams competing from Oregon State, California, Stanford, Vanport Educational center, Lewis and Clark college, Santa Clara, UCLA, San Diego State, Fresno State, Cal Poly, Washington State, and San Jose State.

Frank Waxham and heavyweight Jean Snyder both copped second places in the star-studded AAU meet Saturday to pace the Spartan scoring. Joe Tiago and Kay Toyota were the only other Spartan grapplers to garner points.

The affair was won by powerful San Diego Navy, with the Olympic club and the Japanese team trailing. UCLA, California, Multnomah club of Portland, San Diego Sub-Pac, Alameda Naval Air station, Santa Clara, and San Diego Naval Air Skyraiders trailed the Spartans.

Big Ben, Gaels Dominate Final Casaba Standings

By DAVE GOODWIN

Centers dominated final independent scoring statistics while the St. Mary's Gaels from Moraga became the unofficial team leader with eight wins and two losses over the season.

Ben Gibson, Gael pivot man, led the scoring with an average of 14.3 a game. Big Ben ticked off 143 total points to lead in that respect, while Rod Detrick, COP center, second in scoring with a 14.1 average for 10 games, meshed 49 free throws, tops for the informal "conference."

George Clark, great Spartan center, during the past three basketball seasons, ended up third in total scoring, only playing in nine games, while the other leaders had 10 games under their belts. As it was, Clark topped the other two pivot men in total field goals, hitting 53 through nine games.

In individual college standings, Santa Clara followed the Gaels with a 7-2 record, while USF reposed in third place with a 5-5 record. The Spartans and COP tied for fourth spot with identical 3-7 independent records, with San Francisco State holding a firm grip on fifth position with a 1-4 record.

In total won-lost records, St. Mary's again led with 17-10, while San Jose State and Santa Clara had 15-10 season records. SF State followed with 13-13, USF with 11-13, and COP with 10-13.

Complete individual scoring follows:

Spartans Play Alumni Again

The Spartan alumni nine will be out to avenge an earlier defeat at the hands of Walt Williams' varsity baseballers tomorrow when they meet at 3:15 p.m. in the San Jose Municipal stadium.

The varsity is back at work this week after losing to Stanford, 7-6, on Saturday.

Williams will put the squad through some base-running drills this week in hopes of improving the squad in this department. Williams feels base-running was the outstanding weak spot of Saturday's game.

Ralph Romero's alumni nine will feature a hard-hitting outfield in tomorrow's game. Bob Wuesthoff, Chuck Godshall, and Bill Hurst will roam the outer gardens for the alumni. All three will see action on pro clubs this spring.

Other games this week find the varsity meeting the Alameda Navy on Friday and the reserves hosting Modesto JC Saturday in a doubleheader.

17 Cindermen To Compete in Track Opener

By BILL TUNNELL

Spartan hopes for blue ribbons in the Long Beach Relays will rest with 17 men who have been picked by Track Coach Bud Winter to make the trip.

Two freshmen, Don Gillespie and Joe Oroochi, and two junior college transfers, Kenny Doler and Walt Burnett, will represent the Gold and White in the 440 relay. Burnett blazed 110 yards last week in 10.8, followed closely by the remaining members of the quarter-mile team.

Gillespie and Burnett will be joined by last year's letterman hurdler, Paul Dennis, and Ivan Summers, transfer from Pasadena City college, in the 880 relay. Burnett again copped the deciding time trial, rambling the 220 in 22.7.

Three veterans from last year's squad have been picked by Coach Winter to run in the two-mile relay. Bob McMullen, school record holder in the mile, Jim Grant, distance star, and Bob Anderson, number one man in the 880 last year, will make up three-fourths of the team, with the last quarter to be either Bob Stewart, transfer from Modesto JC, or Freshman John Bollinger.

Five men, led by ace high jumper Herm Wyatt, will lend their support in the field events. Wyatt, who hit 6'5" last week in practice, will be gunning for his top height of 6'7½", which he hit last year at the Compton Invitational.

Shotputter Dick Stults, transfer from Glendale college, and last years discus star George Nickel will be joined in the weight division by John Wenzel, who flipped the javelin 190' in practice last week.

Spartan star of last year, Bill Priddy, will be the lone entry in the pole vault.

Athlete Award Confab Tonight

Who will be San Jose State's "Athlete of the Month" for February?

The Associated Men's Students committee will meet tonight in the Men's gym office to make the selection.

The award goes to the athlete who has done the most for Spartan athletics during the period of a month. The consideration includes scholarship, cooperation and sportsmanship.

Varsity boxer Ted Springston was the "Athlete of the Month" for January.

Orchid Display Now on Exhibit In Natural Science Building

An orchid display, featuring different species of the flower from Peru, Guatemala, Brazil, Venezuela, and the Philippines, is now on display on the second floor of the Natural Science Building.

The exhibit, entitled "The Orchid, Flower of Fashion," was arranged by Mrs. Pauline Lundy McMaster, instructor in zoology, James M. Craig, instructor in biology, and Al Alberts, a student whose hobby is growing orchids.

One of the most interesting of the varieties shown is the Phalaenopsis hybrid, more commonly known as the "Moth Orchid." This flower, which comes from the Philippines, blooms once every four years.

Among the more colorful of the flowers is the yellow Oncidium flexuosum from Peru. It is a member of the spray orchid group, and each flower may produce as many as 300 blossoms in one season.

This flower and a purple Cattleya luedemanniana from Venezuela were loaned to the college by Nicholas W. Curson, commercial grower and orchid importer from Oakland.

Other unusual flowers included in the group are the Lycastis skinneri, national flower of Guatemala, and the Laelia cinnibaria, golden orchid from Brazil.

Student Y Club To Give Camp Workers Help

For the third consecutive year the Student Y will sponsor a series of indoctrination meetings for those who plan to take jobs this summer as camp counselors.

The Rev. James A. Martin, adviser to the local Y chapter, will be in charge of the first session, which will begin today at 1:30 p.m. in the Y office.

The purpose of the initial meeting, according to the Rev. Martin, is to organize a planning committee and make counseling plans for the coming quarter.

The Rev. Martin reminds all those who received his letter last Friday that there was an error on the time of today's meeting. It will be at 1:30 p.m. instead of the originally-slated time of 12:30 p.m.

Library Notice

Library fines must be paid, and books returned by Mar. 11 or student grades will be withheld, according to Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian.

CSEA Favors Plan For Faculty Group

Members of the college chapter of the California State Employees association voted recently to endorse the action taken last week by the college's American Association of University Professors in favoring the establishment of a faculty council.

The CSEA also went on record as favoring the other recommendations of the AAUP, which stated that a committee be appointed by the AAUP, CSEA, and the Association of State College Instructors to draw up tentative plans for the council, and that these plans be approved by all three organizations before they are submitted to all members of the faculty for approval.

Animal of the Week

Fishes and Turtles Are Now Displayed in Science Building

Two species of fishes found in this area and two common snapping turtles are now on display on the second floor of the Natural Science Building as the Animals of the Week.

The fishes on exhibit, which include one Western Mosquito fish and ten Three-spined Sticklebacks, were caught recently by Dr. Ralph A. Smith's Zoology 119 class in Coyote creek near Martha and S. 12th streets in San Jose.

The Western Mosquito fish were introduced into California from Texas and now can be found very commonly throughout the state. They are used for extensive mosquito control because the species eat the larvae of the insects.

The Three-spined Sticklebacks are very common to this area and when mature usually attain 2½ inches in length.

Workers Fit Glass On College Chapel

Both sides of the new college Chapel were fitted Friday with Seedy Amber glass, an "obscure," very brittle type plate, according to workers.

The plates are of two kinds, ventilator and stationary, one workman said. There are four glasses to a section, with one ventilator type on either side of the immovable ones.

Bedded in putty to insure waterproofing, the glass plates are rigidly held in place by triangular-shaped, sine wedges.

LaTorre Pictures

The following honoraries and organizations must schedule their LaTorre group or activity pictures by Mar. 6:

Alpha Delta Sigma, Phi Mu Alpha, Sojourners, CSTA, Engineering society, "30" club, and Tri Sigma.

These groups should contact the LaTorre office between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday or Thursday of this week.
